Stewart Greenleaf, Jr. was born and raised in Upper Moreland Township. His father, Stewart, Sr., is well known as one of PA's longest serving Senators. After earning his B.A. from the University of Maryland and his Juris Doctorate from American University's Washington School of Law, Stewart became deeply involved in the community and public service. In 2011, Stewart was elected as Montgomery County's Controller. After serving a 4-year term, he chose not to run for re-election and re-entered the practice of law full-time in 2016. Stewart volunteers his legal services for the Montgomery Child Advocacy Project and as a hearing committee member for the Pennsylvania Supreme Court's Disciplinary Board. Stewart is also a well respected commercial litigator in Montgomery County, and was recognized by his peers as a "Pennsylvania Super Lawyer" every year from 2013 to the present, and the "Rising Star" from 2008 through 2012. Stewart and his wife, Heather, are the proud parents of two children. They live in the Willow Grove section of Upper Moreland Township in the same neighborhood where his great-grandfather settled nearly 100 years ago.
